Fore Right!

How's your self-diagnosis?

Previously we reported on a GolfTEC analysis which showed that golfers with handicaps of 14 and over usually had their club face open to their swing path at least 3° at impact. The cause of their fade or slice. Why do you lose the ball right (right-handers)?

Likely cause (your diagnosis)	Tick
Weak Grip
Gripping the club in the palms
Incorrect alignment and aim
Opening the club face on the takeaway
Picking the club up on the backswing
Not making a proper turn
Starting your downswing with a rotation
Another reason

Do any or even many of these challenges afflict your game? Are you comfortable with knowing how to resolve the issue you might have?

Become a Fairway Master

Start a journey to having your golf ball in play more often. Get squarer and straighter. Even learn to hit a little draw. Your game will be so much better.

Help them remember

Golf is healthy too

The good news is people are now much more aware of the need to invest in their health. They're going to the gym, running and biking. Smart watches that track steps and heartrate have replaced regular wrist watches.

But what many people don't realise is that playing a round of golf burns up to three times more energy than running five miles. Sure, it might take longer, but it's a lot more fun. It's also more social. Golf is good for body and mind.

Get them back into it

Have you got a friend, colleague or family member who has forgotten the positive influence golf has on their health and life? Let's schedule some time at the club together and help them remember.
