Course update

The repair work continues on the golf course.

We are about a third of the way into replanting 10,000 square metres of kikuyu grass on the fairways, and the green at the 13th has been repaired and replanted and is looking good.

New sand has been put into the greenside bunkers on the first nine and the second nine should be finished this weekend.

We are now cutting the greens at 3,5mm which will make them far faster than they have been over the last month.

The course is starting to look tidy and we are continuing to work on keeping the river clean.

Sharpen your short game

More fun on the greens

If you've ever chipped in from greenside or holed a 30-foot putt, you'll know it's a moment of exhilaration that can make an entire round, regardless of your score. Playing with fitted equipment makes moments like these more likely to happen.

The arc of your putting stroke plays a big part in whether you need a face- or toe-balanced putter. This will help you to square the face at impact, for more accurate putts.

To generate more spin and control with your wedges, you need to make clean contact. That's why it's so important to play with a wedge bounce angle that matches your swing attack angle.

No one-size-fits-all solution

There's a reason that every major putter and wedge release comes in a wide variety of options. Your swing and dimensions are unique, so we need to find the option that fits you best.

Transform your experience

Where's your greatest opportunity?

We believe every golfer – regardless of skill level – can improve their playing experience. The trick to helping you play better golf in the future, is having as clear a picture as possible of where you are right now.

From the tee box

If you're finding fewer than half of the fairways over 18 holes, we'll want to have a look at your setup, swing mechanics and game management.

Into the green

Are you confident that you can find the green with every iron and wedge in your bag? We can help ensure that you are.

On the green

Three-putting bloats your score and can be really demoralising. Let's remove 3-putts from your game.

Use your opportunities

We see problems as opportunities for improvement. Let's spend some time finding your improvement opportunities and turning them into strengths.
