From the Club

From the Course

The rain we are experiencing is really excessive and the water table is so high that the water has nowhere to go. Although the river went over the banks early on Wednesday morning after heavy rain fell in the Midstream area overnight, the river is now back below its banks. If we don't have any more heavy rain we still hope to open the front nine this week. We will keep you in the loop!

In the meantime this is a good time to hit the Driving Range, Practice Green and Mashie Course and get your golf into tip-top shape for your next outing.

Bounce your way to better

In a nutshell, bounce on a wedge helps you to strike the ball in the centre of the club face by managing how the sole interacts with the turf. Do you know if the amount of bounce you're playing is correct for your swing and playing style? The answer could transform your wedge play.

In technical terms, bounce is the angle between the leading edge and the trailing edge/lowest point of the sole. Low bounce wedges have a smaller angle, high bounce wedges a bigger angle. If you have a steep attack angle and keep the clubhead behind or parallel to your hands at impact, you could benefit from more bounce. This is especially true if you play in mostly dry conditions with firm turf.

During a wedge fitting, we'll benchmark your angle of attack, strike quality and spin rate to determine whether you're playing with the correct bounce on your wedges.

Let's establish your benchmark

Two wedges with the same bounce but different sole widths will give you varying amounts of effective bounce at impact.

Make golf your Valentine

Love yourself

While Valentine's Day is a celebration of romantic love, it can also be an opportunity to show yourself some love. With golf as your Valentine, you've got a partner that helps you to be the happiest, healthiest version of yourself.

Hitting a long drive down the middle, chipping in from around the green, holing a clutch par putt; these are the types of memories you'll make during a life with golf, but there's also the health and wellness perks to enjoy.

Spending time in nature does more than reduce stress and anxiety, it also makes you more mindful and aware. And taking that back into the other areas of your life makes you more resilient.

The 4- to 5-hours of walking you do over 18 holes burns up to 1,500 calories. That's almost the same amount of energy as running a half marathon, but a lot more fun.

Write your love letter to golf

Let us know what you love about this wonderful game and we'll help you experience it more often.
